Said In Cypress

—BK—

That the past holiday season has been more a period of Thanksgiving for the editor. Back at work again, although perhaps lacking somewhat in the old vim and vigor, the ordeal of a major operation seven weeks ago and its attending course of recoupment has served to make us humbly grateful. For it is at such a time that the most important man in your life is the surgeon, and your only recreation is to dream patters from the brush strokes of paint on the wall. Then there is time to meditate and marvel over the thoughtfulness manifested in many surprising and delightful forms from sometimes unexpected sources, none of which attention we feel we deserve. And so our thanks go to an indulgent family, Dr. Gendel and the gracious Anaheim community hospital staff, our loyal friends and our sorority sisters, right down to the members of the Buena Park Girl Scout Troop No. 38 who serenaded us, a shut-in, with inspiring carols on a wet and disagreeable night preceding Christmas. Because of an efficient managing editor, Jim Chisholm, we were able to fully enjoy the brief respite from the cares of business. Now when we gaze out of our living room windows at the distant hills, with their topping of marshmallow white, we know that brotherly love and understanding is as permanent as those mountains. If you were not among those who came to call while Mother was here, it is hoped that you will find an opportunity to accept our hospitality sometime during 1949.

—BK—

That speaking of snow, we learned that Tommy Doerr enjoyed his first experience in a storm of the stuff in the mountains last weekend. On Christmas day we had the pleasure of watching four small children and our puppy dog play with a large hunk of it We had picked it up along a highway leading into the higher altitudes, where it had fallen from some more rugged tourist's bumper Needless to say, our Mother, who was facing prospects of unpleasant quantities of it back in the midwest in the then all too near future, practically sneered at the idea. But the expressions of wonder and delight on the faces of the kiddies, ranging in age from two years to six, made up for the inconvenience of lugging it home. Sometimes we fail to realize how little sense just the name of a word makes to the young. Next time, Tommy, we hereby challenge you to a good old snow fight or a fast game of "Fox and geese." But we're in no hurry. It's been eight or nine years now, and we can wait!

Drive-In Theater

That most folks are pleased with the announcement that the Montgomery brothers are installing a modern Drive-In theater in Cypress which will operate with a reasonable price policy. The community can surely use some sort of entertainment to pass the evening hours away without leaving town.

Cold Weather

That everyone in town agrees with the radio commentators that the current cold spell is the worst they have ever seen in Southern California. We Bostonians sure hope we didn't bring our weather with us but the last few days feels more like the bay area in Massachusetts than sunny California. It sure looked like back east the last few days to see men out with the kettle of hot water pouring it into the car radiator and praying that the block wasn't frozen. It's not half bad, however, when we consider that the roads are still clear.

Fire Permits

That A. E. Arnold, fire chief, told us to remind Cypress residents that grass fires in the backyard are prohibited unless one obtains a permit from the county. Anyone ignoring the law will pay cost of the firemen extinguishing any fire damage that might result from carelessness.

Winfield Trailer Park

That Mr. and Mrs. Winfield have been quite busy the last few days during the cold spell keeping the water lines running. They are frozen up every morning. Both Ed and Selma Winfield can be seen running around half the night and in early morning checking the lies. It is no joke to own and operate your own trailer park. We Bostonians shall miss two trailerite, Mr. and Mrs. James Mitchell, and Mr.an d Mrs. Leo Greaney, all of Boston who recently deserted their trailer for an apartment in La Habra. We wish them good luck in their new home.

Champ Clark Relative

That we of the Enterprise just found out that Belle Kennedy of Belle's Budget Shop is a second cousin of the famous Champ Clark, political figure who was supposed to get the nomination for President of the United States in 1912, the year that an unknown little college president got the nod and went on to become one of the greatest American presidents in history. Of course we are speaking of Wilson. Champ Clark was a great speaker and a well liked public figure who was supposed to have had the Democratic nomination all sewed up but a deadlock developed between he and another candidate, W. J. Bryan which allowed the dark horse Wilson to get the nomination. We might add, for the sake of historical fact, however, that Bryan was an even more brilliant speaker than was Clark or Wilson.

NEW LOCATION FOR DRIVERS EXAMS

Claude Groom, manager of the Orange office of the Department of Motor Vehicles announced this week that the temporary location for drivers' license examinations will be at the Barney Koster Studebaker agency, 524 East First St., Santa Ana from Wednesday morning, December 29, until February 8. The usual hours, 9 to 5 on weekdays and 9 to 12 on Saturdays will continue.

"Due to the tremendous increase in auto registration activities during the annual license plate renewal period," Groom stated, "we are unable to give drivers license examinations at this office for lack of floor space."

All applications on file at the local office will be taken to the temporary location and may be completed there. The weekly examination service regularly given at Laguna Beach, Newport Beach, Huntington Beach and Bellflower will be maintained as usual.

Warner Chairman Of Supervisors

Supervisor Willis H. Warner, Huntington Beach, today returned to the chairmanship as the board of Supervisors recorganized and seated two new members, Ralph J. McFadden and Cy M. Featherly of the third and first districts respectively.

Reverend Jorden To Leave Cypress for L. A. Church

Reverend Eric E. Jorden, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene has accepted a call to the Graham Church of the Nazarene, 8628 Compton Avenue in South Los Angeles, according to a statement by the minister this week.

His resignation from the Cypress church was accepted at the monthly meeting of the Church board last Monday night. The resignation will not be official until February 9, or on the date nearest to this date on which a new minister can be obtained to replace Reverend Jorden.

Youth Held For Investigation

A 15-year-old Cypress girl is recovering from an asserted attempted attack by a 16-year-old youth whose case may be aired by juvenile court this week.

The girl said that her parents were gone from their Walker Street home here when the youth, whom she had known for some time, came to visit. He allegedly attempted to mistreat her but was interrupted by return of her parents. Her father caught the lad and held him for sheriff's officers.

Wesley Dickenson, 20 - 30 Speaker, Tells of Snakes

Wesley Dickenson, curator of the Grace Wiley zoo, was guest speaker at the Fullerton 20-30 club recently and exhibited several of the specimens of poisonous reptiles of the zoo.

Among the snakes on exhibition was the cobra which caused the death of Mrs. Wiley last year by biting her while she was exhibiting him to a photographer. Dickenson said he has been bitten several times by cobras while with the army in India but fully recovered each time.

"In snakes are left alone they are harmless, and if properly handled, they make good pets. Dickenson explained.

Accompanying the curator to the meeting was Harry Kyne, who told several interesting stories about unusual snakes, including the Tiger snake of Australia, whose venom is 100 times deadlier than the cobra. He spoke also of the spitting cobra of India, which can eject his venom accurately about 12 feet and aims for its victim's eyes, causing temporary blindness. These snakes are mighty nervous and spit on the least provocation and the workers handling them wear goggles.

Kiwanis Heads Appointed For New Year

Committee chairmen for the coming year in Kiwanis were notified of their appointments at a meeting of the board of directors Tuesday evening following the meeting. President Frank Noe revealed his appointments as follows:

Program, Leo Snedaker; Attendance, Harold Mieger; Youth, Hap Wilsey; Classification and Membership, Richard Hathcock; Interclub relations, J. F. Sullivan; Music, Rob't. Rittenhouse; Support of Church Committee, Dr. R. D. Temple; Distribution of "It's Fun to Live in America," Paul Godding; Public Relations, George Bellis; Finance, Jacob Mumm; Gum Machines, Dal Hash; Publicity, Marvin Wangrud; House Committee, A. C. Smith; Agriculture, Bill Mitchell and the present Youth Activity building committee consisting of Mumm, Sullivan and Temple were asked to continue on in that capacity.

At the meeting Tuesday evening Bill Mitchell introduced a team of three members of the Fire Department who demonstrated the resuscitator-respirator unit recently acquired by the department. Harold Nelson, Henry Legari and Charles Hillman explained the uses of the unit while demonstrating each method in cases of drowning, shock, suffocation, etc.

The team pointed out that the equipment belongs to the fire district, is available to the public in the same way that fire equipment is called and that there is never a charge made to anyone for its use.

MRS. ROSELLA McNUTT DIES AT HOME SUNDAY

Mrs. Rosella Marie McNutt passed away suddenly at her home 9621 Graham Street in Cypress, Sunday, January 2, 1949. She is survived by her husband Alva B. McNutt and a sister Mrs. Betti Lewis of San Gabriel, California.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday at 11:00 A. M. from the Renaker Chapel with Reverend Paul Neerman officiating. The committal services were held in Graceland cemetery.

Recreation Group Elected Here

Jake Van Dyke has been re-elected president of the Recreation Park Committe, inc., the adult group handling affairs of Recreation Park, being built here as a community project on eight acres of ground purchased a year ago.

Murton Jones was elected vice president; Mrs. Olive Williams, secretary, and Richard Hathcock, assistant.

With its incorporation the committee membership was doubled by addition of one delegate from each of the sponsoring organizations. Members now are:

At large: Van Dyke and Mrs. Pauline Flynn. Fire Department —Pat Arnold and Jones. Community Club—Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Marie Jones. P.-T.A.—Mrs. Logan Wallace and Hathcock, and Chamber of Commerce, Russell Flynn and Ted Boyd.

The community meets on the third Wednesday of each month.

Dick Hathcock Takes Over

NEWLY ELECTED PRESIDENT Richard Hathcock, of the Cypress Chamber of Commerce is shown some of his duties as Classification and Membership Committee Chairman by Frank Noe, president of the Kiwanis club. Hathcock is also taking over as head of the Cypress Chamber of Commerce, a job which Noe formerly held. These two civic minded men have many duties to perform and find cooperation beneficial. California Is First State To Aid Cheated Veterans Regards Overpayment On Housing Says The News

Nation Should Follow Suit - Protect Vet's Rights

The cause of freedom is not yet dead!

Fearless free journalism is still alive!

One of the fundamental principles of the American Constitution is that the rights of little people lacking huge financial reserve funds shall have these rights protected. Many times this is not the case but every once in a while a champion of the oppressed steps in and delivers a few punches at one of the "power groups" in defense of the precious rights of little people.

When this happens it becomes news that should be read in every little town and hamlet in these glorious United States, the pivot of freedom and justice.

On New Years Day the Los Angeles Daily News ran an editorial summarizing the gains of veteran's housing in the past year and the work yet to be done. The article points out that the state of California is the only area in this nation wherein the cause of the aggrieved veteran has been at all rectified. The editorial also points to the much needed work yet to be done if the young veterans of the recent conflict are to have their present optimistic faith in America justified and protected.

The editorial is so well written that the Cypress Enterprise takes pleasure in presenting it to the readers in the form of an interesting feature which we feel sure you will enjoy and will find hard to forget. Here is an article that the patriotic organizations, VFW, American Legion, and others, might well lay at the feet of Congress for an immediate investigation followed by legislative action. (Editors note).

G. I. Homes - A Summary

A look backward at 1948 to assay the results of the Daily News' campaign in behalf of veterans who were gypped in their GI home purchases shows that we made out so-so.

It was a tough fight, and we wish we could say we had won it, but actually it has just begun.

By that we mean that the government agencies involved seem finally to have formulated a program under which settlements and restitutions should more easily be obtained. We hope that in a short time all the legitimate complaints—there are almost 2000—will have been settled, so that this shameful episode of postwar recklessness and greed may be brought to a close.

Early in 1946 the Daily News decided, because of the many complaints from veterans seeking help from this newspaper, to bring the situation to public attention.

Stories and pictures exposed the kind of junky structures palmed off as homes by some cheap chiselers to young veterans who did not have, and could not be expected to have, an expert's appraisal of property.

At the same time, the Daily News demanded that the Justice Department and the Office of the Housing Expediter carry out the duties of their office by investigating alleged maleractors and by effecting settlements, if possible.

The most shameful thing our campaign revealed was that the two years 1946 and 1947, under which the GI program was operative, provided a fertile field for swindle because the law passed by the Congress was so brutally inequitable.

The propaganda given out was that a veteran's best friend was his government and that it would protect him from exploitation, but the law passed by Congress was a phony in this respect, since all the protection was loaded in favor of the lending institutions and the builders.

Any veteran who has tramped back and forth between the Veterans Administration and the Federal Housing Administration, seeking their aid, knows all about the runaround he received from these agencies.

The Justice Department, too, found out how phony the law was. When, after months of investigation by the OHE, U. S. Atty. Jas. Carter took the now famed "Fresno case" to trial, he failed to win a conviction on any single one of the 52 counts for which the Grand Jury had indicted a trio of defendants.

Nobody could deny that the houses complained against were lousy, but the jury found that the builders had not violated any law in constructing them.

Then, the veterans who owned the homes brought a civil suit in Federal Court, only to have it thrown out because the statute of limitations had lapsed, the judge said, and the home owners were defeated on all fronts.

The U. S. attorney subsequently called attention to the law, which in effect was no law at all, and recommended a Congressional investigation to determine who did what to whom and to strengthen existing laws to prevent such goings on in the future. The Daily News, of course, had recommended such a course from the beginning.

In the meantime, Congress made a grudging little appropriation to the veterans affairs division of the OHE, to permit it to hire more investigators. After months of organization, this program got under way, so that the agency was able to speed up its program of out-of-court settlements.

The U. S. Attorney, by this time swamped with complaints, decided to undertake a similar program. He hoped he could obtain settlements for the veterans rather than risk lengthy criminal prosecutions which he might or might not win, and from which he might or might not be able to demand repayments.

As the year comes to an end, and the out-of-court settlement program now seems well established, we can at least report that some restitution has been made.

The local veterans affairs division of OHE has obtained some $130,000 in repayments for Southern California veterans, while the U. S. attorney's office has been able to win back about $50,000.

The amounts themselves are not sensational but the fact that they have been collected is.

We say this because the Los Angeles area is the only one in the nation where a U. S.a ttorney and the OHE veterans affairs agent have acted at all in behalf of the aggrieved veterans.

The Daily News, in its efforts to force officialdom to act for the veterans, as not always been kind to U. S. Atty. James Carter, nor to the OHE veterans affairs agent here, John Handy.

Nevertheless, since their modest successes are unique in the nation, these two men deserve public recognition for what they have done.

The public should know that Mr. Carter is the only U. S. attorney in the country who had whatever courage it required to undertake such a program.

The public should know also that Mr. Handy and his OHE veterans affairs program will go out of business March 1 unless the citizens demand that Congress grant a new appropriation to carry on the work.

These two men perhaps because of the pressure put on them by this newspaper, have demonstrated that the job can be done one way or another. Their efforts should serve as an example and a rebuke to their counterparts elsewhere. Congress should, on the basis of their achievement here, grant the funds and force other officials throughout the country to finish the job.

It's the least the new Congress can do to atone for the sins of the last Congress which passed the shoddy law in the first place.

Well, what's our pitch in all this? Quite a simple one, really; good citizenship.

The Daily News, by proving to the aggrieved veterans that their government can and will act in their benalf, hopes to counteract the cynicism and bitterness to which their tragedy has given rise.

The Daily News has heard statements and received letters from veterans and their families who say they despise their government for permitting them to be swindled.

Plan To "Dump" Surplus Water In River Under Fire

Plans to increase maximum Orange County Water District tax from 5 cents to 15 cents in order to buy water to empty into the Santa Ana river drew fire from west Orange county leaders this week.

The plan approved by county ranchers to buy surplus Colorado river water from the Metropolitan Water District and empty it into the Santa Ana river basin to replenish underground supplies was considered to be no affair of western Orange county which is mostly in the San Gabriel river drainage basin and therefore stands to gain nothing from the water deal.

George Bellis of Buena Park, who attended the meeting of the Associated Chamber of Commerce water committee Monday evening referred to the project as "Operation Rat Hole" and stated that the plan to assess a 200 per cent increase in water district taxes to "dump" water into the upper reaches of the Santa Ana river for percolation in to the underground basin should be limited to those who stood to profit by it. He also pointed out to the committee that those who were already in the MWD would not be assessed the tax and would stand to gain more than the west Orange county people.

The water committee plans to present the problem to the membership of the Associated Chamber of Commerce at a general meeting on January 28, Bellis said.

Meeting at Orange County Farm Bureau Hall the representative ranchers, who are among the county's larges users of water for agricultural purposes, set a policy of annual replenishment of some of the supply they take from the rapidly depleting Orange county basin.

The $250,000 they agreed to raise next tax year by special assessment will purchase at least 20,000-acre feet of water.

Under the plan developed, the 125 representative ranchers present will back a special election within the near future to levy the special assessment, now estimated to be about 12 cents per $1000 assessed valuation.

Permanancy of the surplus water purchase program was approved when they agreed to back the Orange County Water Districts plan to ask the Legislature for authority to increase its maximum tax from 5 cents to 15 cents annually to provide it with more operating funds.

Directors of the county water district will meet Friday afternoon to set the date for the special assessment and to determine the amount of the assessment needed to raise the quarter million dollars.

Action came last night after a county flood control engineer, J. A. Bradley, traced receding water levels and reported on salt water intrusions in wells as much as 8 miles from the ocean.

Garage Fire Nipped In Time; House Safe

A grass fire was the cause of the garage fire on the Jack Silveira dairy on Crescent Avenue on Monday afternoon which has been estimated as a $500 loss to the owner. A new bicycle and used radio, three trunks and two suitcases containing clothes were destroyed in the blaze which was quickly brought under control by the Cypress Fire Department. Ed. Wellser is the tenant on the property.

A. E. Arnold today issued a warning that grass fires cannot be started without a county permit. When property damage results from fires started by grass fires lacking a permit the party concerned will be held responsible by the county for the cost of extinquishing the fire.

Handling the hose at the garage fire were Ray Barnhart and John Lukens. Others present fighting the fire were Frank P. Noe, Carl Sanders, Haskell Kelley and Chief Arnold.

Lectures For Parents In Next Two Months

January 18 — Perplexities of Parenthood.

January 25 — Childhood Hurts and Personality Scars.

February 1 — Ragbag Minds and Mischievious Emotions.

February 8 — Frankly Forty—What Now?

February 15 — Sensible Sex Education.

There is no admission charge and an excellent opportunity is presented for help and advice in everyday problems of everyday life.

WITCRAFTS ENTERTAIN COTTON MATHER AND IOWA RELATIVES

Mr. and Mrs. George Witcraft proprietors of the Cypress Cleaners and Dyers, have been entertaining relatives from Iowa and Texas during the past week. Among the guests staying with them at their home on 5908 Amon Avenue, Bellflower, was Cotton Mather, brother of Mrs. Witcraft, (Mather) both of whom are descendents of the famous Cotton Mather, Massachusetts historical preacher and writer. The present Cotton Mather is a salesman from Dallas, Texas.

Other guests included, Mr. and Mrs. Darriell Johnson of Dayton, Iowa; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Linn of Pilot Mound, Iowa; Mr and Mrs. Edgar Mather of Fresno, California, second cousin of Cotton Mather.

BURGLAR LOOTS PARK POOL HALL

Looting of the pool hall at 524 Grand avenue, was reported last Friday by Alfonso de Angelis, employe. Entrance was made through a ceiling trap door, according to officers who investigated the burglary. The cash register was rifled of $12, $5 worth of cigarettes and 25 green poker chips were also taken.

Marriage Rites By Youngster Is "Disgusting"

Reverend Eric E. Jorden of the Cypress Nazarene church agreed with Dr. John E. MacArthur, pastor of the Fountain Avenue Baptist church in Los Angeles, in terming the recent marriage in Long Beach performed by a four year old preacher as 'disgusting," in a statement to the Enterprice recently.

Dr. John E. MacArthur, pastor of the Fountain avenue Baptist church in Los Angeles, pointed to stiff requirements for ordination including a college course and three years at a seminary, set up by most faiths.

"Disgusting. It is a travesty for anyone to ordain a five-year-old child," he said. "It depreciates the value of the ministry. It would be just as ridiculous to allow a child to perform an operation as to allow achild to perform a marriage ceremony."

TEEN-AGERS NEED

A few weeks ago C. R. Rehnborg, Buena Park businessman, started the ball rolling in that community towards a long dreamed of goal — a Community Youth Foundation. He graciously gave the fund its origin by donating a check for $10,000. His community spirit and citizen leadership is commendable and is a challenge to everyone in Cypress to do something for the youth.

Certain community minded individuals in Cypress have shown cooperative spirit by donating land tracts for public buildings in the past. We cannot expect the same people to give for each charitable cause, so as we see it, some group in town must make it their responsibility to help the "Teen-Agers" get the recreation building they are currently seeking.

The youth of any community have a right to expect the adults to aid them in such projects. Where else would you have them seek diversion and entertainment if not in their own home town? Remember that the old problem of "Juvenile Delinquency" originates because the youth of America, in some sections, have no way of utilizing their spare time. The adults of any community have within their power a weapon to fight delinquency if they but use it. If the adults turn their back on this problem or ignore it, they have but themselves to blame for such situations as arise that is depicted on the front page of this week's Enterprise concerning two young people who had no place in Cypress to meet together under proper supervision.

NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTION

A hundred years ago Alfred Tennyson greeted the New Year with:

"Ring out the old, ring in the new,
Ring, happy bells, across the snow;
The year is going, let him go;
Ring out the false, ring in the true."

The century snce Tennyson penned those lines has failed to dim their luster. As a spontaneous expression of the unlamented departure of an old year, and the joyous dawning of a new one, Tennyson's verse is still superb.

In today's troubled world, the poet's advice to free ourselves of values which are false, and to embrace virtues which bring satisfaction and happiness, could serve everyone as a resolution for the future.

Yes, ring out the false and ring in the true; that's a fine recipe for a Happy New Year — which we sincerely extend to all our readers.

TIME TO REDUCE! By MACKENZIE

I RISE TO REMARK
By John Phillips

Once each year I try to give a practical illustration of the operation of our government. Perhaps this would be as good a week as any. It will start the year right, and anyway I'll be in a train, chugging East, anxious to catch up on the political medicine, now being brewed in the Washington teepees.

I write with the resigned assurance that a few readers will misunderstand, and include that the Congressman objects to being asked his stand on various major or minor issues. (All issues are major issues to someone!) Nothing could be farther from the fact; you should know that by now. Frequently, having been brought up to be honest, I have to say I don't know about an issue, or that I don't know enough yet to know how to vote. What I'm talking about is the increasingly frequent "questionaire", and its relation to our kind of government.

You'd be surprised how many we get. Especially during campaigns! On every conceivable subject. Some ask me how I'd vote on some subject on which I've been voting for years, and on which I've expressed myself vigorously. I write back politely that the writer could have saved himself and me a little time and trouble by looking at the record, or these weekly letters. Some ask for assurance on how the candidate will vote on some issue, on which the bill has not yet been introduced, much less read and discussed.

There's the whole point. We don't vote on theories, in Sacramento and Washington; we vote on bills and resolutions. We read what is written on pages of paper; we know what our people want. We know the exact situation at the moment of the vote, and we vote our best and most honest and experienced judgments. That is our kind of government. No other government could live. I am asked if I will vote for Universal Military Training. If you want to know if I favor UMT I will say, yes, but I don't know if I'll vote for the bill until I see it. I want training for the physical improvement of young men who might later be called to arms; training in the essentials; the things that I know from experience would take short periods of training, and would save lives. That's what Congress wants; but I know, as you do, that the Military brass would love to have conscription, probably for a two years' period. I'll see the bill before I vote.

Do you favor using to the fullest the peaceful processes of the United Nations, instead of the frequent by-passing which has characterized U. S. policy in the past?" Answer yes or no! Using them for what? The UN was created to keep a peace not yet here, not to make one. What frequent by-passing?" I know of only one, Greece. I didn't agree with that one, but a majority in Congress did. Some people call the action on Palestine a by-passing; it was really political impatience. Will you vote for a bill to amend the Railroad Retirement Act? Yes, but not the bill that was forced through Congress, and which its supporters themselves are trying to change. We'd have been a year ahead, if there had been more "no" votes!

There are three questions, out of hundreds. Bills change in process. I always use the illustration of Godfrey Andreas' bill, at Sacramento, to change the fishing season for abalones. When the Governor signed it, it protected the desert burros from being shot and canned for dog food. Almost anyone would recognize a change there. Many bills change as materially, if not as obviously.

The strongest form of government is the one in which the representative keeps in touch with his people, but votes yes or no on experience and judgment, and on each issue as it comes before him. This kind of government is called the Republic.

It is the government of the United States of America, and it is the only government which has stood successfully for 162 years.

FESTIVAL DATE—Pretty Helen Hollerbach samples some prize Coachella Valley dates, which will be included in the colorful feature exhibits at the coming 1949 Riverside County Fair & National Date Festival, to be staged at the fairgrounds, Indio, Calif., on Feb. 18-22, inclusive. Using the Arabian Nights theme, the fair and festival has been termed America's most unusual event. Camel races, a Bagdad Bazaar, mammoth street parade, a blue ribbon horse show with circus acts, and an exotic Arabian Nights Pageant presented nightly, free, on an authentic $25,000 Arabian stage, will be some of the feature entertainment attractions.

CYPRESS PERSONALS

Mrs. Elizabeth Anderson of Indianapolis, Indiana has come to spend the winter with her son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. M. H. Damron. On New Year's eve the Damrons and Mrs. Anderson were the guests of the Arthur Collins.

A pleasantly informal New Year's eve party took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hoyt on Walker street. Included in the evening's entertainment were games, attendance at the firemen's dance and the serving of refreshments at the midnight hour. Included in the party were Mr. and Mrs. Leon Knoller of Garden Grove ; Mr. and Mrs. Dick Morris and Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Bloom of Anaheim. The women were all classmates at Anaheim High School.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Essex have as their house guests this week the former's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Bridgeman, and their daughter, Jean, of Linvingstone, Montana, and their nephew, Bob Essex, of Dillon, Montana. The Bridgemans were former residents of Cypress. On New Year's Day, in addition to their house guests, Mr. and Mrs. Essex entertained Mr. and Mrs. Willard Essex and their son, Billy, with a turkeyd inner.

The executive board of the Centralia Parent-Teacher association will meet Thursday morning at the school. A number of important matters will be discussed.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bordner left Wednesday morning on a motor trip which will take them to Illinois, Wisconsin, Mississippi, New Orleans and Louisiana. They will visit daughters in Illinois and other relatives and friends enroute. They plan to be gone six weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Wicker and children, Judy Belle and Jimmy, and the former's sister, Mrs. Minnie Stover, of Anaheim have returned home from a very enjoyable 10 days spent with relatives in New Mexaco and Texas. Leaving on December 23 they arrived in Silver City, New Mexico, in time to spend Christmas at the home of Mr. Wicker's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Noel Rankin. All of Mr. Wicker's family gathered for a family reunion on Christmas Day, it being the first time they had all met together for 12 years. From there they went to El Paso, Texas, where they were the guests of Mrs. Wicker's brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Gourley. Here they were highly entertained, with the very pleasant weather adding to their enjoyment. Before reaching home on January 2, they stopped at Riverside to breakfast with Mrs. Wicker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Southward.

A. E. Arnold is planning to build four store buildings on the property between the Cypress Cleaners and Ricks Watch Repair shop. Architects are drawing the plans preparatory to a request for a permit.

The VFW Auxiliary met Thursday night in the school cafeteria.

100 THINGS YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT COMMUNISM--EDUCATION

This is to tell you what the master minds of Communism have planned for your child in the name of "Education."

They mean to take him from the nursery, put him in uniform with the hammer and sickle flag in one hand and a gun in the other, and send him out to conquer the world.

If they have their way, he will be guided from the kindergarten straight through to college so that he will have anything except a mind of his own.

He will be trained but not educated. He will be taught to solve problems that are handed him and to consider it a crime to think for himself. He will be the child-man of Communism.

Here are the facts in this, the third of a series on Communism:

1. What is Commuism?

A conspiracy to conquer and rule the world by any means, legal or illegal, in peace or in war.

2. Is it aimed at me?

Right between your eyes.

3. What do the Communists want?

To rule your mind and your body from the cradle to the grave.

4. Are you joking?

Look at the world today and see if the people of Europe and Asia have anything to laugh about, now that Communism has captured so many of them.

5. If Communism should conquer America, what would happen to the schools?

Real education would stop. Only training would be allowed.

6. What the difference?

All the difference there is between freedom and jail.

7. What is "education?"

People are "educated" when they learn to go after facts and to think for themselves.

8. What is "training?"

People are "trained" when they learn how to do a particular thing well and can be depended upon to do it.

9. Which is better?

A monkey can be "trained" but only a human being can be "educated."

A man can very well improve himself by training in some specialty but only if he adds that training to independent thinking power, the hall-mark of education.

10. Are Communists really against education?

Yes, but don't take our word for it. Take theirs. The details here following are all from their own stuff.

11. What do they say?

Here's a quote from Lenin, founder of the Soviet state:

"Give us the child for 8 years and it will be a Bolshevik forever."

12. What's a "Bolshevik?"

The origin and history of that word tell a lot about Communism itself. The Russian word for "majority" is "bolshinstvo" and the Russian for "minority" is "menshinstvo."

Back in 1903, when the Social Democratic Party in Russia was plotting revolution against the Czar, it split into two wings: One, led by Lenin, claimed to be the majority group and took the name "Bolshevik" from "bolshinstvo." It called the other wing "mensheviks" after "menshinstvo."

Both groups helped overthrow the Czarist regime in 1917. But then the Bolsheviks turned on the Mensheviks, threw them in jail, and set up a terroristic dictatorship. The Bolsheviks changed their name to the "Russian Communist Party (Bolshevik)" after they took control, and they have continued to rule under the same name as the only organized political group right up to the present day.

Their headquarters are in Moscow in an 800-year-old fort called the "Kremlin." The head of the party is Joseph, who not only commands the Communists in Russia but everywhere in the world, including the United States of America.

13. Do you mean the Communists in this country take their orders from Stalin?

Just exactly that, and every one of them knows it sooner or later.

14. Then a "Bolshevik" and a Communist" are the same thing in meaning, aren't they?

Yes, and they are bad news for everybody else.

15. Well, what did Lenin have in mind when he said give him the child's first eight years?

He meant that, given a child from its infancy, he would turn it into a faceless, obedient, trained Communist slave for life.

16. How?

Here's a quote from an official 1946 guide to teachers of kindergartens in Soviet Russia, which handle children from 3 to 6 years of age:

"The basic habits of Socialist life are formed during this period —order and discipline, friendship and comradship among children, love of our great motherland, of the Communist Party, of the leaders of the people—."

This kindergarten program is the biggest, broadest, and most elaborate branch of the whole Russian school system.

17. What actually goes on in these kindergartens?

From the same book above quoted:

"Here children play Red Army soldier; in their hands are little flags, on their uniforms and caps are the insignia of infantrymen, tankmen, sailors, and aviators.

"They march in formation to the tune of a martial song."

18. What's the purpose of all this?

Again, the same teachers' handbook tells us the aim is—"preparation for organized and disciplined labor in higher schools, in production, and in the service of the Red Army."

19. How does that differ from our school system?

We teach our children here how to think. They teach children what to think.

Our kindergartens try to develop children as individuals so each one can have a chance to grow up into the kind of citizen he best can be. Their kindergartens try to stamp each child into a fixed form so that he will serve Communism, and Communism alone, regardless of his own individual ambitions or instincts.

20. Just what makes up the "school system" in America which the Communists want?

There are about 201,1000 schools in this country listed by the United States Office of Education. They teach some 31,880,000 students everything from cooking to atomic physics.

Our schools range from public to private to church ownership, and from kindergartens to colleges.

Add to these the thousands of commercial, music, drama, art, business and trade schools not counted in the list above.

Add the research centers, textbook houses, teachers' unions, school supply companies, the National Education Association, and it affiliates.

Each and every one would be wrecked and the pieces taken over.

ANY TIME IS COFFEE TIME

No self-respecting hostess would leave out of her party plans plenty of freshly-brewed, hot coffee. It is a fitting finale to any menu. Brew coffee by the cup or by the pot—but always serve it freshly made and hot. Good coffee is clear in color, rich in flavor and, above all, it is fresh.

Flavor, so all important in coffee, does not just happen. To make perfect coffee by your favorite brewing method, use a clean, scalded pot. Buy coffee to suit your individual taste and always measure both the coffee and the boiling water.

Left-over coffee should be poured into a glass jar, sealed tightly and stored in the refrigerator. It can be used for puddings, pies, cookies, cakes and ice cream, all of which take on a delightful flavor with the addition of coffee.

"Let's have a cup of coffee" is the universal password to relaxation, conversation, and good cheer. Coffee knows no class distinction, no boundaries of time and place. It is the all-occasion beverage of all Americans.

Suggested basic rules for coffee brewing:

1. Measure both coffee and water accurately. Recommended proportions are two level tablespoons coffee for each three-quarters cup of water.
2. Use freshly-drawn and freshly-boiling water.
3. Buy coffee as it is needed. Coffee is a perishable food and will lose its flavor, aroma and strength upon standing. Store in the refrigerator in a tightly covered container.
4. Brew coffee to the full capacity of your coffee maker. Serve as soon as possible after making.
5. Keep equipment clean.

COFFEE ALMOND ICE BOX PUDDING
(Serves four)

½ C. butter
1 C. powdered sugar
Sponge cake or lady fingers
4 egg volks
4 egg whites
1 tsp. vanilla
1 C. strong cold coffee
2 tbsp. cream
1 C. toasted almonds

Cream butter well, beat in sugar and egg volks, one at a time. Flavor and add 2 tbsp. of coffee. Beat egg whites until stiff and fold into mixture. Line 1 quart mold with strips of cake or lady fingers which have been soaked in the coffee or cream and then drained. Arrange the pudding and the chopped almonds in layers. Arrange lady fingers over the top. Cover with wax paper and chill in the refrigerator for twenty-four hours. Turn out on a serving dish and top with whipped cream.

COFFEE MOUSSE
(Makes 1 quart)

½ tbsp. granulated gelatin soaked in
2 tbsp. cold water
3 tbsp. hot water
1 C. warm coffee
Few grains salt
¾ C. sugar
1 pint heavy cream, beaten stiff

Dissolve soaked gelatin in hot water. Add coffee, salt, and sugar. Stir thoroughly. Strain into refrigerator tray or bowl. Chill until thickened, beat until light, fold in cream, and freeze in refrigerator tray.

COFFEE PENUCHE
(Makes 1⅓ lbs.

3 C. light brown sugar, firmly packed
1 C. brewed coffee
2 tbsp. white corn syrup
2 tbsp. butter or margarine
1 tsp. vanilla extract
1 C. chopped nuts

Combine the sugar, coffee and corn syrup in a saucepan and cook, stirring constantly, to 236° F., or until a little of the mixture dropped in cold water forms a soft ball. Remove from the heat, drop in butter, but do not stir it in. Set aside to cool, without stirring, to 110° F. or until the candy is lukewarm. Add vanilla, then beat with a spoon or beater at medium speed until the mixture loses its gloss, and a small amount dropped from a spoon will hold its shape. Then stir in nuts, and pour into slightly greased or oiled 8" x 8" x 2" pan. When cold, cut into squares.

COFFEE SUNDAE SAUCE
(Serves eight)

½ C. cold water
4 tbsp. ground coffee
¾ C. brown sugar, firmly packed
1 C. granulated sugar
⅔ C. white corn syrup
4 tbsp. margarine
⅛ tsp. salt
⅓ C. evaporated milk
½ tsp. vanilla extract

Mix cold water and ground coffee in saucepan, cover, bring just to the boiling point. Set off from heat and allow to brew for 15 minutes. Meanwhile, combine sugars, corn syrup, margarine and salt in saucepan, and cook, stirring until dissolved, to 236° F. or until a few drops of the sugar will form a soft ball when dropped in cold water. Remove from heat, cool slightly and stir in evaporated milk and vanilla. Strain coffee infusion through several thicknesses of cheesecloth and add. Serve on ice cream.

Mrs. Frank J. Watte L. B. 35348

The George Wheelers and children of Los Alamitos, and the Bob Kennedy's of Bellflower celebrated New Year's Eve and New Year's Day at Big Falls Lodge, nestled high in the San Gorgonio mountains. They enjoyed a lovely dinner in the lodge, and spent the evening dancing. Several of their friends joined them. They said that there was plenty of snow, and that the iceskating was grand.

Gerry Layton, now a big boy of 6 years, was the center of attention when he opened the many presents given him at his birthday party Tuesday. Mrs. Layton made their home festive with colorful balloons, and the children happy with a beautiful cake. Helping Gerry celebate were his brother and sister, and Sharon Stein, Freddie Johnson, Tommie Poe, Bobbie Moore, Dickie Hazelbaker, Judy Rucker, Mickey DeBruyn, Joey Kelley and Carol Ann Carpenter.

Mrs. Enola Chamberlain, our loart to the literary world. Currently her poem "Night Pageant," cal poetess, is adding more of her first published in the Sept.-Oct. issue of Different Magazine and winner of several prizes, has been reprinted in the January issue of Chromatones, Long Beach. Her poem, "The Return," first published in the Nov.-Dec. issue of Different Magazine was reprinted in a treatise on prayer. Also her poem, "At The Parade," has been chosen by the California Federation of Chaparral Poets to be read over KPMO, Pomona, California.

Happy New Year was celebrated in a big way by our local firemen. Getting together in the Fire House they decided to have a safe and sane evening of merriment. Refreshments were served, and Juke box dancing was enjoyed by all. Ten firemen, their wives and guests attended the affair. Gay horns and swirls of serpentine made the celebration really gay.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Munday, former residents, received guests in their home in Irvine from Los Alamitos this last week. Mr. and Mrs. Camille Pattyn and daughters and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Watte had a lovely luncheon with the Munday family.

The Altar Society of St. Isadore's appointed its new officers at the last meeting. President for the year is Mrs. Kathleen Fletcher who will be assisted by Mrs. Rosemary Teague, vice president, Mrs. Rose Marie Watte, secretary; and Mrs. Alice Pattyn, treasurer. The first event of the year is a bingo party planned for the 20th of January, and to be held in the bungalow of the T. C. Mehren home on Green Street. The other issue to be attended to will be a mmbership drive.

Mrs. Anna Rykaert, and her sister, Rose Semming, were visitors from Los Angeles to the Camille Pattyn home last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Proctor attended the play held in the Claretian Semiary called "Murder and Elderberry Wine." The play characters were portrayed entirely by young men. Following the play, the Proctors visited young Kenneth Lapolito, ill in the St. Mary's hospital. He is recuperating from a leg operation.

The lovely new home built at the 3791 Green street address, is now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. C. Pickering. They have a one year old baby.

Thirty-one years of marriage was celebrated January 27 by Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Watte. With them to give them their best wishes were Albert, George, Frank and Omer, their four sons and their families. Also there were Mrs. Alice Otte, and Mr. Omer Watte of Westminster. An evening of cards was enjoyed by the group, followed by refreshments.

The new officers of the Good Neighbors Club will take their places at the first meeting in January. Phyllis Cloud is the new president from Garden Grove and Florence Layton is vice president. Katherine Stein and Madge Moore will continue to hold their offices of secretary and treasurer, respectively.

Mrs. Fred Johnson, Mr. J. Corley and daughter, Ruthe, drove to San Diego for the Nevada football game. They weren't too happy with the outcome, but did enjoy seeing Mr. Corley's son playing in the game.

L. A. Laboratory May Prolong Avocado Life

Recently installed controlled temperature chambers in a subtropical horticulture laboratory at the University of California at Los Angeles may be the means of discovering how to prolong the life of the highly sensitive and extremely perishable avocado fruit.

These chambers are the scene of experiments under the supervision of Dr. Jacob B. Bial, associate professor of subtropical horticulutre at U.C.L.A., with avocados and certain critus fruits. The objectives of the experiments are concerned with perishability of these subtropical fruits in storage. Of particular interest to Dr. Biale are the respiratory processes of the avocado as well as citrus fruits. When the avocado "exhales" it gives off carbon dioxide just as we do. It also gives off a gas known as ethylene, a combination of carbon and hydrogen atoms. Ethylene is used commercially to bring out the color of citrus fruits.

Experiments in the controlled temperature rooms will be concerned with the effects of this gas on avocados and lemons. It is thought that it contributes to rapid ripening and shortens the storage life of the fruit.

YOUNG WOMEN'S MISSIONARY GROUP MET TUESDAY

The members and friends of the Young Womens Missionary Chapter of the local Nazarene church met on Tuesday evening at the church for their monthly meeting. The devotions were led by Mrs. Eric Jorden. Mrs. Henry Hart gave the study which was about "Holiness and Mission," the third chapter of the study book.

At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served in the Mission hall. Hostsses this month were Mrs. Oscar Kelley and Mrs. Jas. Palmer. Those attending, other than the hostesses were Mesdames Bob Stearns, J. T. Thrower, Joe Ferguson, Norvil Chapman, J. C. Napier, Edward Riddle, Charles Leuerville, Hal Shirley, Eric Jorden, Henry Hart, Toab Wolford, Miss Etta Jean Bodkins.

They say they are sorry, in view of all the broken promises, that they bore arms in their country's defense and in their deep bitterness they swear they will never do so again.

These young men and their families have been wounded in the cheapest and meanest way of all, because they have been swindled out of their right to believe in that great American credo drilled into them since childhood—everyman's hope for a home.

The Daily News believes that the government must do everything possible to preserve the allegiance of these men and their families, and that it can do so only by redressing a wrong, by proving that these citizens have a right to present their grievances.

The Daily News believes that veterans in other areas must be served by their U. S. attorneys and OHE officials as they are beginning to be served here. More important than protecting the money involved is the preservation of the respect and love and loyalty of these citizens for their government.—S. B.

At Random

There's meat in this paragraph from a recent L. A. Times editorial: "The instinct of the American people has always been antimonopolistic, and the instinct is sound. Monopoly leads to gouging and rackets depriving the public of goods and services at reasonable prices and a list of other evils. The men who got up the Boston Tea Party were fighting monopoly and the origin of the American Republic may thus be said to have been anti-monopoly sentiment."

It is noted that newly recommended legislation in Iowa is gauged by the people's 'ability to pay. In formulating a 20-year road improvement plan, the Iowa Legislature's highway investigating committee has recommended that added funds needed be obtained by reallocating to that purpose ..the existent two per cent sales tax on automotive parts and accessories, and the two per cent tax on new motor vehicles. That makes sense.

In Ohio, according to the Cleveland Press, a scattered three per cent of the people favor a proposed two-cent increase in the gasoline tax rate. . . . In a paid advertisement Santa Anita Park recently tried to re-sell the public horse racing on the grounds that it helps support the state's fairs. "A recent survey," the ad stated, "showed that 99 per cent of Californians approve the fairs. Certainly, then, an overwhelming majority of our citizens must approve California racing which supports the fairs." That sort of argument in the texts on Logic, is called a parallogism — an argument that doesn't add up. One could just as correctly argue: "The public overwhelmingly approves the automobile. Certainly, then, an overwhelming majority of the public approves the accidents, highwayism and lechery for which the automobile is responsible."

Governor Warren appears more and more as "a man with a past." Now the advocates and sponsors of the successful Proposition 4 on the November ballot—for pension increases to the aged and blind—are recalling that the Governor, reportedly backing a movement for repeal of the enactment, once showed a very different attitude towards the needy aged and blind. That was when, as a candidate for governor, he wrote their committees his enthusiastic accord.

STAINED BRICK

The wind stirred the old newspaper
And it skittered down the alley
Then glancing off the smoke stained brick of an old building.
It danced like a child, happy
Gay and carefree down the alley into the darkness.
And as I stood and watched the old newspaper
The image of Man prevailed,
And I saw Man dancing like a child down the alley
Into the darkness, the blackness of death.

The love poem by Monte Hart, was the one mentioned last week as being included in the National Anthology of High School poetry called "Songs of Youth." We agree that it richly deserved the honor.

Truly "the thoughts of youth are long, long thoughts."

We are grateful to Monte for permitting us not only to read it but to print it.

President Hayes Seen As Effective Speaker

The speeches of Rutherford Hayes indicate that he was a better president than most historians credit him with being.

This opinion was expressed by Uuton S. Palmer, lecturer in speech at Santa Barbara College, University of California, before the American Speech Association at its convention in Washington, D. C. Mr. Palmer presented a paper on "An Evaluation of the speaking of President Rutherford B. Hayes." He represented the Pacific Coast in a panel of the Public Address section.

While Hayes was not a great orator, Mr. Palmer said, he was a highly effective public speaker. People believed him and respected his sincerity and high moral integrity.

President Hayes suffered the disadvantage of an unfavorable press and the enmity of several influential political factions. Mr. Palmer pointed out that Hayes had public office thrust upon him, but once in office he took his responsibilities seriously. Not being much of a political manipulator, he ran the presidency as an administrator.

Although not a highly original thinker, Hayes made intelligent use of what he borrowed from others. Mr. Palmer traced the ideas of Hayes to their sources and found that he was influenced greatly by Webster, Emerson, and Joseph Story. Of more direct influence were such advisers as Carl Schurz and George William Curtis, editor of Harper's.

Garden Pest Control Described By U. of C.

How to kill pests that attack flowers and vegetables in the home garden, and how to cure or avoid diseases that attack them, are outlined in a new University of California Circular 146, titled Ridding the Garden of Common Pests. The publication was prepared by E. O. Essig, professor of entomology, and A. E. Michelbacher, assistant professor on the Berkeley campus of the College of Agriculture.

Insects and similar pests invade the garden from the time seed is planted until the crop is harvested. Many of them are controlled easily, but the gardener must be able to identify the pests, use common sense in his cultural practices, and have a basic knowledge of insecticides and how they operate. The circular is designed to aid him in these matters.

Plant diseases usually are not so easy to control; many of them must be prevented rather than cured. The circular gives suggestionsf or handling this problem.

Agricultural Extension Circular 146 may be obtained free from the College of Agriculture, Berkeley, or from the office of any county farm advisor.

CALIFORNIANS ARE ASKING ?

Just how are the GOP leaders in California going to chide the county and precinct workers for failure in the last campaign when it has been shown that the little workers were unceremoniously ignored by the bigwigs who, thinking they had a sure thing, put all the eggs in the "big baskets"?

Why not let some of the lush profits of the California race tracks pay the aged and the $5-increase to the needy blind?

Isn't it true that Governor Warren was a staunch supporter of adequate pensions for the aged, back in 1942, when he was a candidate for his present office?

If California's government is modeled basically on the Federal system, and if the United States Constitution specifically states that all revenue bills must originate in the lower house of Congress, isn't it reasonable to assume that the spirit of California's government demands that revenue bills originate in the Legislature, and not in the offices of Governor, or any administrative agenies?
